All Preparations for the Great Cherokee Invasion Made.

Thousands on Horses and Bicycles - The Bicyclists Claim They Will Stand a Good Show in the Rush-Nothing Equal to it in American History.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Aug. 30.-The race of settlers into the Cherokee country on Saturday, September 16, at high noon, promises to be more novel and exciting than the famous Oklahoma invasion five years ago. At that time the army of homesteaders was mounted altogether on horseback, each man carrying a rifle and one or two revolvers, but in the approaching Cherokee charge a number of the invaders will be mounted on bicycles, and will carry their rifles swung across their shoulders, with lunch baskets pendant beneath, after the style of cartridge boxes. The bicyclists claim that they will stand a good show in the race.

The green prarie hillsides about Arkansas City are dotted with thousands of little tents and white-capped wag-Scattered about on the turf are old stoves, dirty children, care-worn, calleoed mothers, begrimed male pipe smokers and numerous horses and cows. The average boomer is not over fastidious about his clothes, but he is very particular about his hat, which is the regulation mouse-colored felt head-piece, of the Wild West pattern. It is his "fad," the sign of his calling, and is his admission ticket to good boomer society. Without such a hat the stranger is suspected of being a town tender foot, and he is held in half-ounce estimation accordingly. All derby-hatted PRICE individuals find that out.

The programme for the race on the opening day will be as follows:

Early Saturday morning the troops on the northern border of the Cherokee strip, where the invaders' army is encamped, will be drawn up in line with REMIT orders to shoot the horses of any "sooners" who may attempt to break through the line in advance of the free-for-all signal at noon. The boomers will be permitted to range themselves in line along the survey which divides Kansas from the Cherokee country. Precisely at the moment when the hour hand of the watch marks midday the signal "Go!" will be given by the colonol of cavalry, and the troops will gallop away to one side and leave a free field for the charge.

At the time of the Oklahoma invasion the same tactics were employed. Capt. Woodson, of the fifth cavalry, Ft. Reno, ordered the 8000 boomers on the Northern Oklahoma border to take position, with the horses feet upon the line of an old cattle fence which had been torn down for the purpose. No man was allowed to get a foot advantage of Woodson then placed his company of troopers together in a bunch at one side of the line, which was over one mile in length, and galloping himself to the center, accompanied by his bugler, he sat motionless upon his large black horse, with his gold watch open in his hand, waiting for the two dial hands to come together at noon.

At the moment when the hands blended, he turned swiftly in the saddle, and with a quick gesture of the hand signaled the bugler to blow.

One short, sharp blast rang out upon the air, and then the earth trembled as though in the throes of an earthquake, as 8,000 horsemen sprang suddenly forward, and went galloping into the promised land. The roar of hoofs sounded like the bombardment of a phlets or call on great battle, while the dust rolling up in clouds from the dry sod, quickly charging host almost invisible, as it swept onward like a cyclone.

The Cherokee country is 200 miles in width from east to west and 60 miles broad. It is one of the most fertile prairie regions of the west, surpassing in beauty and natural resourses the famed park regions of Oklahoma.

Additional companies of boomers are arriving daily, and fully 10,000 men are expected to be in readiness for the charge on the eventful Saturday.

tions in wages, Mayor Carter H. Harrison believes in reductions in other directions. He Tuesday announces that he has ordered his agents to make a general reduction in rents. "I have done so," said Mr. Harrison, "because times are hard and money is scarce. I hope my action will be the means of relieving those who are embarrassed. I believe that a general reduction in rents is in order, and it would be a good thing if landlords and agents generally would follow my example.'
